Since December 2004, the Disaster Recovery Centre (DRC) at Citrus Grove, managed by Deloitte has firmly established itself as the premier facility of its kind in the Cayman Islands. With its varied product set the DRC is able to meet the disaster recovery needs of local businesses whether that be IT equipment hosting, secure media storage or recovery seating.

The Deloitte DRC employs the latest technology and facilities to help companies resume essential business functions and IT processes in case of disaster. Part data centre, part office suite, it is located on the second floor of the Citrus Grove building in George Town, Grand Cayman - a local high point set back from the coastline.

The Deloitte DRC is now offering a recovery seating product which is designed with the small to medium sized business in mind, providing a lower cost alternative to the dedicated recovery suite. Clients can now operate from one or more dedicated seats depending on their needs. These seats are located in an open plan office environment shared with other DRC clients.

The single seat recovery workspaces enjoy all the other benefits of the Deloitte DRC: generator power, independent water supply, kitchen and copying facilities as well as the support of Cayman's most experienced disaster recovery team.

To find out more about how the DRC can help you protect your business please contact Wayne Green on (345) 814 2239 or wagreen@deloitte.com.

All workspaces are equipped with:

- Telephone;
- Shared printer fax;
- Basic Internet Access;
- Desk, Chair, Shelving; and
- Dedicated support team.
